Work from Anywhere

Home Playbook

Focus at Home

Work from Anywhere is the ecosystem that gives organizations and employees choice in where and when work occurs. We start by looking at the entire ecosystem: office, home, and third places.

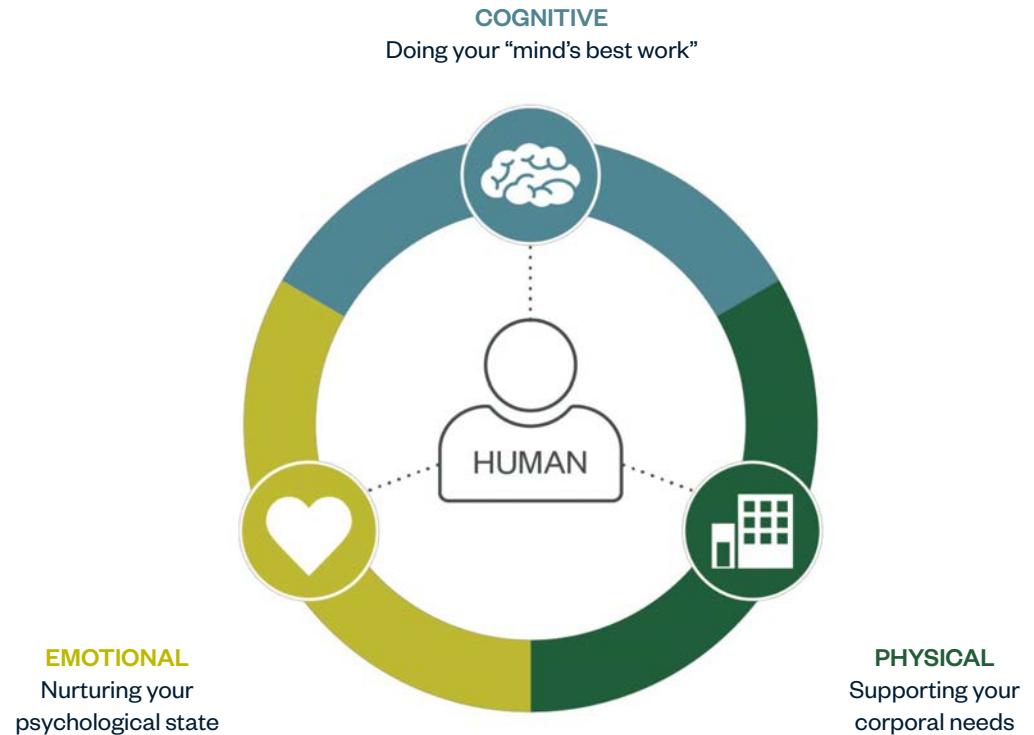

Home can be a supportive environment for focus work, reading, scheduled phone calls, and virtual meetings. When planning a home office, consider what the space has to offer: How much area is allotted, and how much time will be spent there? Then decide what elements are needed to support the primary activities performed at home. This playbook provides a full range of choices in an array of aesthetics and space types for a variety of activities.

Enhance Human Performance

When people feel strong emotionally, they tend to manage the stressors of everyday life and recover more quickly—oftentimes leading to an ability to cognitively process information better. Our studies identified 10 Affordances vital to human performance.

To create a work experience that nurtures well-being, the Affordances that relieve stress and provide security will take precedence when people are challenged with new ways of working.

10 Affordances to Support Human Performance

Cognitive

- Embedding – Opportunities to place and retain appropriate mnemonic artifacts
- Externalization – Options for creating, recording, and expressing thoughts within the physical environment
- Access – The means to gather, organize, store, and retrieve information
- Insulation – The means to manage both irrelevant and meaningful stimuli

Emotional

- Authenticity – Familiar, meaningful, and engaging surroundings
- Well-being – A sense of personal control and safety
- Affinity – A feeling of connectedness with coworkers and others

Physical

- Anthropometrics – Furniture, fixtures, and spaces suitable to the worker's physical characteristics
- Ambient(s) – Healthy and supportive (appropriate) environmental conditions.
- Movement – Various opportunities to change posture, position, and location
